I am a final year student of Informatics at Diponegoro University. I am interested in web development and UI design. With more than 2 years of experience as a Front-End Web Developer, I am familiar with the Frontend ecosystem on MERN Stack and Next JS. I also have experience with other technologies Laravel, and CodeIgniter. I enjoy every aspect of the creative process and have a high sensitivity to web development and design. Looking for a dynamic and challenging role to challenge myself and contribute to the success of software development.
